The No.1 Cruise Specialist

WELCOME TO THE AUTUMN EDITION

Dear Cruise Club member

Welcome to the second edition of 'Into The Blue'. It's my pleasure to present you with the latest edition of our magazine and to invite you to delve deeper in to the world of cruising.

The first edition of 'Into The Blue', released in July, was a tremendous success and I would like to thank you for your positive feedback. It is because of this incredible response that we have taken the decision to make future editions bigger and better.

In this issue we provide a comprehensive overview of the principles behind our successful business with an insider's guide about all things Bolsover Cruise Club, emphasising that customer service and creating the perfect booking journey is always at the forefront of our minds. This Autumn edition also invites you to discover a great range of exciting itineraries and superb destinations from a wide range of cruise operators.

My introductory letter last issue referred to the release of our redesigned website. I am pleased to say that we are now experiencing incredible 'hit' rates with thousands of customers and potential customers visiting the site every week and we continue to expand the website as we strive to provide our clients with all the information they need to make an informed cruise holiday choice. The introduction of the 'Cruise Reviews' facility invites customers to post reviews following their return from holiday and the new 'Customer Testimonials' section gives you the opportunity to comment on the service you have received from Bolsover Cruise Club, as well as read what other customers have to say about our renowned customer service; don't just take our word for it - see for yourself!

Our 'Go Green' option was rolled out earlier in the year and this has received a brilliant response. The choice is completely yours with this facility. If you wish to 'Go Green' then great but if you prefer to receive cruise documentation the traditional way through the post then that is no problem at all.

We have included features on a selection of our cruise partners in this edition of "Into the Blue" and we hope that you enjoy the next instalment of our magazine as we continue on with this exciting year.

Yours sincerely

INSIDE THE AUTUMN EDITION

GO GREEN THE CHOICE IS YOURS

Since we announced the launch of our 'Go Green' option, we have seen almost 60% of customers opt for this service and we want to thank you for this encouraging support. This is of course just an option and in no way are you obliged to choose to 'Go Green'. Should you wish to continue receiving your cruise documentation through the post then all you need do is decline the 'Go Green' option at the time of booking... simple.

In September we invited our loyal followers on Facebook and Twitter to send in their cruise holiday photos with a chance to feature in this magazine. Your photos were so good that picking a winner proved extremely difficult, therefore Managing Director Michael Wilson decided to show three of our favourite selections, here they are...

GETTING TO KNOW US

It's our mission to get to know your likes, dislikes, pleasures and preferences but we thought we would take this opportunity to help you get to know us better. It is a pleasure to introduce four members of our fantastic Sales Team; Adele, Dawn, Sam and Tracey.

ADELE

Why should a customer book with Bolsover Cruise Club?

Not only will we make every step of your booking process an enjoyable, relaxing experience, we will share with you our extensive product knowledge. We are so proud of all the awards that we have won over the decades, which makes us the best!

What's your favourite destination?

My favourite destination is Florence. It is one of the most beautiful cities in Italy not only popular for its history, culture and monuments, but also fantastic for shopping.

DAWN

What's your favourite ship?

Azamara Quest; the service, food and destinations are always incredible. There's a feeling of camaraderie on an Azamara voyage.

What makes the Bolsover Cruise Club one2one service special?

Having that direct point of contact with the client from start to finish, really getting to know your clients and providing the best customer service for them, it's having that 'individual client' feeling that makes our service so special.

SAM

What's your best cruising memory?

My best cruising memory would have to be on board Sea Princess in the Caribbean with my husband and our great friends, drinking cocktails, sailing into the sunset. Priceless!

What's your favourite ship?

My favourite ship that I have sailed on up to now has to be Adventure of the Seas. I thought the entertainment was great and the ship had a very buzzing, friendly atmosphere.

TRACEY

What's your favourite destination?

I have been lucky enough to visit so many nice places but I would have to say my favourite is Barbados. The beaches are beautiful and there really is something for everyone there.

How did you become a cruise expert?

Bolsover Cruise Club provide a comprehensive training programme for all new staff. Before you can even take a phone call we go through approximately three months of training. Ship visits also gave me a great insight into different cruise lines which puts me in a better position to advise my clients.

one2one Service™

As the Number 1 UK Independent Agent for P&O Cruises and Princess Cruises for 26 consecutive years and now the Number 1 Independent Agent for Celebrity Cruises, we know a thing or two about cruising but it's more than just our knowledge that sets us apart.

From the first time you speak with us until after you return from your cruise, you will have one point of contact at Bolsover Cruise Club. You will be looked after by one of our experienced Sales Consultants who will provide you with all the information and support you need, and who will be able to answer any questions you may have. Customer Service is not just important to us, it is imperative. There are many different styles of customer service and many differing opinions on how it should be delivered. It is rare these days that you will find an organisation able to deliver a first class service at every interaction but we pride ourselves on doing just that. Our Sales Consultants are truly experts; they experience a three month training period during which time every aspect of cruising is covered giving them in depth knowledge of all the cruise operators we work with.

As you deal with the same Sales Consultant, they are able to gain a greater understanding of what you are looking for from your holiday and so can provide the best advice.

Our state of the art computer system means that we know you are calling before we even pick up the phone. You'll be greeted with a personal welcome and all your booking details are immediately available to the Sales Consultant or Administrator. If you prefer, you can visit us in person to discuss your holiday - we would love to meet you.

The phrase 'going the extra mile' is used too often in the modern day world, which is why we choose to go about it in a different way. Customer service is not just about going the extra mile to us; it's about everything we do and is at the heart of our entire business. It's for this reason that we have achieved so many awards over the years. Unlike other agents we do not mix our focuses on differing types of holiday; we are a cruise specialist and our unrivalled relationship and association with cruise operators allows us to provide exceptional value for money and additional benefits to our Cruise Club members. It's no wonder we are recognised within the UK cruise industry as the No.1 Cruise Specialist.

THE PERFECT FAMILY ADVENTURE

Many cruise ships provide comprehensive programmes for children aged 6 months through to 17 years, with an exciting range of fun and educational activities, all under the supervision of enthusiastic and fully qualified staff. Children are cared for in Kid's Clubs dependent upon their age, helping them to meet new friends. Holidays provide a valuable opportunity to spend some quality time together, so as well as the energetic activity programmes available on board, suitable shore excursions can be arranged such as aqua parks, horse riding and nature walks, assuring memorable moments for the entire family.

There is no greater adventure for children than sailing the high seas. A family holiday is a time to be cherished, so a huge selection of the finest ships invite you to experience a cruise designed to bring the whole family closer together whilst having the time of your lives!

ENTERTAINMENT & FACILITIES

Younger children can paddle in splash pools and enjoy a dedicated soft play area where there are ball pools, toys and books, as well as taking part in singing, imaginative play, colouring and drawing, fun and games. For slightly older children, they'll be invited to join in pool games, deck parties, treasure hunts, arts and crafts, and computer and video games. Not forgetting teens, who also get their own space; they can take part in shipboard Olympics, Murder mystery games, slumber parties, video games and film viewing. Some ships even offer their own teen night clubs.

Pool areas are fantastic with so many different areas to choose from. Families often have their own dedicated pools to relax and have fun in the sun. Many ships now also offer covered pools so, in the unfortunate event that the weather lets you down, you can rest assured your cruise ship won't as the roof will slide over the pool so children can still enjoy the facilities.

PEACE & QUIET

We understand mums and dads need a bit of quiet time too. Whether it's during the day whilst your children are in the capable hands of the kid's club staff, giving you the opportunity to relax in the spa or explore the ship, or in the evening when you may wish to indulge in a romantic meal together or take in a show. With that in mind, night nurseries and baby-sitting services are available on board most ships and, for older children, there is always a late night supervised party zone as well as their own chill out zones.

DINING FOR KIDS

Meal times are stress-free, with most ships providing early dining options for families. You'll find familiar children's favourites, such as pizza, hot dogs, fish fingers plus healthier menus offering salad, vegetables, pasta and fruit. Enquire about unlimited drinks packages for children on board. This is just one option; if you prefer to dine in the main or speciality restaurants on board as a family then great, there are no restrictions on this at all and cruise lines invite you to enjoy a holiday together.

ACCOMMODATION

Cabins are well equipped for families, with facilities such as a TV, telephone, drawer and wardrobe space. Many twin bedded cabins have additional beds, either upper berths which fold down or in staterooms and suites there are sofa beds. For those of you looking for that little extra space and privacy there are a number of interconnecting cabins. Cabin stewards will take care of all arrangements for you so there's no need to worry about a thing, just wake up and enjoy the day, that's what cruising is all about!. There's even the option now aboard many cruise ships to indulge in a family suite providing a world of space at exceptional value for money.

Facilities, entertainment etc vary from ship to ship. Please ask your Cruise Consultant for specific details.

▶ PREFER TO CRUISE WITHOUT THE CHILDREN?

In the next edition of Into The Blue, we'll be focusing on 'adults only' cruise holidays and short getaways.

EUROPE 2014

OASIS OF THE SEAS® IS COMING.

There's so much to do and see throughout the seven distinct neighbourhoods and 16 decks on Oasis of the Seas®.

The spectacular 12-night Southampton to Florida cruise provides enough time to explore to your heart's content, plus the opportunity to join the audience for a series of special events exclusive to this sailing! You can extend this cruise experience with a 5 night Caribbean cruise immediately after, giving you time to enjoy more sights and even more on board. This is the very first time Oasis of the Seas® will sail in Europe and from the UK, giving you the chance to discover the pioneering features of the world's most innovative holiday resort. 40% larger than any other cruise ship to ever dock in Southampton, Oasis of the Seas® call in the UK brings the holiday of a lifetime to your doorstep - don't miss out!

FOR FAMILIES

From the magic of the traditional hand-crafted carousel, to boundless fun in the H2O Zone and dedicated Youth Zone, younger guests will find plenty to do on board. Also not forgetting the enchanting DreamWorks® Experience and family-friendly dining venues that will put a smile on everyone's face!

FOR RELAXING

Alongside wow-making activities, Oasis of the Seas® offers plenty of opportunity for relaxation. Lush plants, art galleries and cafés fill Central Park—the first living park at sea—making it a haven of tranquillity and the perfect place to relax on board. If you feel like being pampered, the on board spa and salons are ideal.

THERE'S NEVER BEEN A BETTER TIME TO BOOK, SO WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

HEAVEN ON EARTH

A Caribbean cruise holiday is a must for those wishing to discover true paradise. The Caribbean offers sights and memories that you thought you could only dream of. The warm, white picturesque beaches, crystal clear seas and gently swaying palms, make the Caribbean one of the world's best-loved holiday destinations.

EXPERIENCE THE CARIBBEAN

With so many beautiful and diverse islands, there is always somewhere and something new and exciting to explore. Whether you are travelling as a family or enjoying a romantic cruise for two, this beautiful part of the world never fails to deliver.

The Caribbean really is made for cruise holidays. From Barbados and Antigua to St. Lucia and Grenada, a wealth of hidden treasures including historic harbours, lush tropical forests and character laden towns await. The notorious laid-back life style ensures locals are as welcoming as the Caribbean islands themselves. The relaxing leisurely outlook on life here soon helps you let everything go and a freshly made cocktail provides the perfect welcome. This is the ultimate destination to relax especially on a deserted beach or even try snorkeling or hiking in this un-spoilt part of the world

The region comprises nearly 7,000 islands, islets and reefs, so there is always an undiscovered haven to find. Brimming with colonial architecture and magnificent historical buildings, this stunning destination effortlessly blends magical landscapes and wondrous scenery. A Caribbean cruise offers memories that dreams are made of; each island has a distinctive charm to tempt you. The vibrant towns, beautiful beaches and the many attractions to see, ensure your time in paradise is perfect.

ANTIGUA

With over 365 beaches, there is a slice of white sand heaven for every day of the year on the idyllic Caribbean holiday island Antigua, which played host to Admiral Horatio Nelson's fleet in the late 1700's. Nelson's Dockyard now bustles with crew and passengers from yachts and cruise ships sailing these waters for pleasure rather than for King and Country.

The main port, St John's, is also the capital and a vibrant hub for shopping as well as being within easy range of some of the best beaches - at Fort James, Deep Bay, Galley Bay and Hawksbill.

BARBADOS

On the sheltered west coast, the glorious beaches are pure Caribbean. And there are more beaches and a lot more bars, cafés, restaurants and clubs creating a vibrant 24/7 lifestyle on the south coast, too.

In the capital and cruise port, Bridgetown, there are intriguing signs of its British colonial past while, across the island, you are really spoilt for choice. You can enjoy every water sport under the sun; stunning nature walks and bike rides; or maybe a trip to the uniquely magnificent Harrison's Cave underground complex of caverns, waterfalls, stalactites and stalagmites.

ST. LUCIA

Cloaked in verdant rainforests, its skyline dominated by the dramatic twin peaks of Les Pitons and its gardens a riot of hibiscus and bougainvillea; St. Lucia is the epitome of a Caribbean paradise. Here you can watch parrots and hummingbirds skim through the trees, bask on beautiful beaches, visit charming fishing villages, view stunning volcanic scenery and glory in the Caribbean's best botanical gardens.

If it is your first visit, an island tour to the dramatic Soufrière volcano will show you the island's full beauty. Boat trips to spot dolphin and whales are also available, as are biking, jeep and hiking tours of the rainforest.

THE LARGEST SHIP DESIGNED FOR BRITAIN

P&O Cruises has announced its senior management team for its new 141,000-tons cruise ship. Captains Paul Brown and David Pembridge will alternately lead the shipboard team, supported by deputy captains Martin Allen and Hamish Sunter and executive pursers Darljit Sharma and Keith de la Mare. The team will take the new build from Fincantieri shipyard in Trieste to its launch in spring 2015.

Captain Brown will be joining the head office in Southampton early in 2014 as the project starts to gain considerable momentum, with the rest of the team joining at different times prior to launch. Paul Brown joined the company in 1996 and was first promoted to captain in June 2007 on board Aurora. He then went on to be master on board Artemis, Oriana, Ventura and Azura. David Pembridge joined the company in 1976 and was first promoted to captain in October 2002 on board Pacific Princess. He then went on to be master on board Royal Princess, Sun Princess, Artemis, Oceana, Ocean Village 2, Oriana and Aurora.

The largest ship in P&O Cruises fleet, and the largest ever built specifically for British cruisers, it will offer a stylish and innovative new design, with an unprecedented number of passenger facilities together with many iconic signatures of the P&O Cruises brand. It will offer the “best of the best”, combining favourite classic features of ships such as Oriana and Aurora, the wide choice and contemporary variety of Ventura and Azura and a host of new concepts which will include yet-to-be-announced “sophisticated wows”.

In delivering the ultimate P&O Cruises experience, the ship will be designed to both attract many thousands of newcomers and resonate with existing passengers, by delivering the sense of ‘P&O-ness’ for which the brand is held in such high regard. At the same time, the ship will be designed to deliver much greater levels of operational and environmental efficiency.

In Spring 2015 P&O Cruises will unveil their brand new cruise ship, the largest ever built specifically for the British market. Bolsover Cruise Club's Marketing Executive Katie Anderson made the trip to Venice to witness the exciting keel laying ceremony for the new vessel, a key moment in the timeline of any new ship. Katie shares her experiences from the day and we take a closer look at the superb innovations set to feature on board.

After a 4:30am start at Gatwick airport I was on my way to Fincantieri shipyard in Trieste, Italy, to witness the keel laying of P&O Cruises new ship for the British cruise market. This new 141,000 ton ship will be launched in Spring 2015.

Katie arrives at the Fincantieri shipyard ready to explore.

Up to now, little has been revealed about the 3,611 passenger ship, which has been described as a 'modern classic' and will include some sophisticated wow's to be announced at a later date. Having been aboard many new cruise ships as they're launched, I was excited to learn more about what happens from the drawing board stage to actual design and construction.

Well, I was about to find out... On my journey to Venice I learnt the construction had actually commenced back in October 2012 where the steel cutting had begun. The keel laying itself would involve the placement of the first section of the ship's hull, weighing 500 tonnes, in the dry dock. This section is made up of 6 pre-manufactured blocks, weighs 408 tonnes and is fitted with 214 tonnes of pipes, cables, insulation and various other equipment.

At the shipyard we were met by some of the Fincantieri shipyard representatives and introduced to Shipyard Director Carlo de Marco and other partners involved in the new ship build, including British design company, Richmond, who is overseeing the whole ships interior. Richmond are leading designers in the hospitality industry, with an impressive portfolio of iconic British hotels including The Langham London, Mandarin Oriental and the Four Seasons Hampshire Hotel and Spa to name but a few. I learnt that Richmond had also designed the amazing spa area on Princess Cruises new Royal Princess and Regal Princess, both of which were also in the Monfalcone shipyard during my visit. Usually a number of designers are used for various areas of any one ship, but for P&O's new ship Richmond are overseeing the whole interior, and they told us the design will incorporate the classic and iconic history of P&O Cruises with modern features which will certainly appeal to a new generation of passengers.

At almost 1:00pm we put on our hard hats and went out into the shipyard for the ceremony. Accompanied by officials, some of the shipyard workers, photographers and film crews, the ceremony commenced with Fincantieri shipyard Director Carlo de Marco making a speech, saying: "We are proud to be on the world stage together with P&O Cruises in this endeavor which will undoubtedly be a marvelous opportunity not only for Monfalcone shipyard but for Fincantieri as a whole. Indeed, this is another occasion to further strengthen our well established ship owner. It will be an honour and a pleasure to celebrate in 2015 the delivery of this ship and together the tenth anniversary of the collaboration between P&O Cruises and Fincantieri, started in 2005 with Arcadia."

Royal Princess ready to depart alongside the progressing Regal Princess due in 2014.

Carnival UK CEO David Dingle then took to the stage and followed with a speech (which he also did in Italian): "Each of our new ships has been exclusively designed for the British market. We have ensured that each anticipates the subtly changing trends in what British passengers expect from their cruise holiday - and is equipped to meet those expectations for many years to come. Our success in adapting to the market's changing needs is why our ships continue to fill and why the whole cruise sector ultimately continues to buck any downward trend. We cannot wait to see this ship finished and underway".

Carnival UK CEO David Dingle welcomes guests.

The shipyard chaplain then blessed the construction of the ship before the Italian and British Anthems were played. Next, P&O Cruises MD Carol Marlow then pressed the big red button to give the order for the keel to be laid, and with a round of applause the huge cranes began to lower the first section of the ship's hull into the dock.

After the ceremony a few of us were very privileged to be taken down into the dock to see the blocks close up, if you can imagine eventually 74 blocks in total will complete the length of the ship, the immense size is just overwhelming! I'm still struggling to comprehend how in such a short time such a magnificent vessel such as this can be built!

Later we enjoyed a beautiful lunch and had time to chat some more about P&O Cruises new addition. On the wall was a lovely big image of how the ship will look when completed, and I was delighted to see on the two yellow funnels was the yellow sun of P&O Cruises's logo, what a fabulous touch.

Before we said our goodbyes we were given a momentum of our day - a piece of metal engraved with the ship's hull number '6231'. On the way home we were all guessing what the name of the ship might be.

Enjoy a flying start

You'll find that there's a lot to look forward to next year. Because, as well as Michelin quality dining, incredible service and spectacular entertainment, you can also expect a range of exciting new itineraries and stunning destinations in our 2014 Fly-Med holiday collection.

Cunard Insights. Discovery begins on board

Discovery does not always have to be on land. Thank to Cunard Insights, discovery begins on board. You'll find Cunard ships incredibly sociable destinations. Thank to many organised events and get-togethers on board, meeting other guests is easy. Cunard regularly invites well known personalities to join them and meeting experts and celebrities can be a memorable part of your Cunard cruise. When it comes to broadening horizons, you'll be spoilt for choice. It's why days between your discoveries on land can be rewarding and exciting too.

There is almost no limit to what you can learn on board a Cunard cruise

All speakers invited by Cunard are guaranteed to add another dimension to your cruise. From academics and ambassadors to politicians and film producers, the many inspirational personalities on board never fail to widen your expertise.

For 2013 there has been a great selection of personalities invited to join the Cunard fleet aboard their exciting itineraries. Well-travelled writer Bill Bryson will be on board this October along with a man that has ventured even greater distances, space shuttle astronaut Jeffrey Hoffman. Former independent MP Martin Bell will also appear on board before the end of the year.

Cunard Insights offers passengers a fantastic choice on board and is much more than celebrity guests. Perhaps you want to learn more about the latest computers, accessories and software. iStudy classes help take the mystery out of today's technology. Science Voyager provokes thought and discussion on all sorts of topics from evolution to the environment.

The Royal Astronomical Society partnership puts distant stars and galaxies into focus. Using telescopes and binoculars, the RAS expert can point you in the right direction to gaze up at the Milky Way from deck. Queen Mary 2 provides even greater opportunities thanks to the superb Illuminations. This fascinating concert and 3D cinema venue is also the only planetarium at sea, where specifically created shows explain what you can see in the night sky overhead at different times of the year.

There is almost no limit to what you can learn on board a Cunard cruise. Informal talks introduce you to each port of call before you arrive and that's just the start. Experts are always on hand to teach you about everything from the theatre and film to technology and distant constellations.

STAR CLIPPERS

A Once In A Life Time Adventure... Guaranteed

Imagine the rustle of vast sails being hoisted and feel the warm breeze on your face as they catch the wind, carrying your graceful ship into the sunset, onwards to its next exotic port. Cocktails are being mixed in the al fresco Tropical Bar and guests are gathering to watch the setting sun and chat about the adventures of the day. After dinner, there will be dancing under the stars. And in the morning, the ship will drop anchor at first light, perhaps off a powdery white beach, or alongside an exquisite Mediterranean port for another day of discovery.

Star Clippers, one of the premier speciality cruise lines, combines adventures all over the world on board three of the world's largest and tallest sailing vessels with the activities, amenities and atmosphere of a private yacht. The two smaller ships in the fleet, Star Clipper and Star Flyer, carrying 170 passengers each, are perfect recreations of traditional clipper ships, with billowing sails and graceful lines, while the magnificent flagship, Royal Clipper, carrying 227 passengers, is the world's only five-masted square-rigger. All three are the result of the childhood fantasy of Star Clippers' Swedish entrepreneur owner, Mikael Krafft, who dreamed of building replicas of the exquisite tea clippers of the 19th century - and in 1991, constructed his first ship, Star Flyer.

In summer, the three ships roam the Mediterranean and the Aegean. Winter itineraries follow the sun to the lesser-known islands of the Caribbean and the coasts of Panama, Costa Rica and Nicaragua in Central America. From 2014, Cuba, an exciting new destination is being introduced.

Fellow passengers are sophisticated Europeans, Australians and Americans, many of them either incurable romantics or sailing fanatics or both, and all of them eventually seduced by the carefree lifestyle on board these beautiful ships, far from the stresses of everyday life

WE CATCH UP WITH LYNN NARRAWAY

We meet with the Managing Director of Seabourn. Seabourn offer unique, luxury cruise vacations featuring ports of call around the globe with service consistently ranked best of the best.

Firstly how do you like the new "Into The Blue" magazine?

The magazine looks great and offers a nice mixture of cruise and destination editorial, as well as advertising – there's certainly a cruise for everyone featured here!

Seabourn are a fantastic cruise line but what do you think sets them from other brands?

Our three Odyssey-class ships which entered service between 2009 and 2011 really exemplify the new face of Seabourn. Carrying just 450 guests, they offer enhanced restaurant choices, a sumptuous spa, more spacious bars and lounges as well as our innovative 'Seabourn Square' – a multi-purpose concierge lounge featuring a speciality coffee bar, library, internet and travel centre. Of course they also feature all-suite accommodation, 90% of which has private veranda. These three new ships offer one of the highest space ratios in the industry and have significantly expanded and enhanced the luxury travel sector in the UK.

Another unique aspect of Seabourn is the inclusivity of our product – there is no supplement to dine at any of our restaurants, all drinks are included and there are no service charges or gratuities to pay. Our house champagne Nicolas Feuillatte is the #1 co-operative union in champagne and we serve more than 150,000 bottles a year onboard, as well as Black River Ossetra Malossol Caviar, one of the world's finest

The itineraries available with Seabourn are always exciting, especially the chance to head off the beaten track and see somewhere truly unique, where's your favourite destination to cruise?

I think some of our Croatia itineraries from Venice really do encompass the essence of Seabourn. Cruising across the lagoon from the city of Venice, into walled cities like Dubrovnik and Kotor, and to some of the most gorgeous unspoilt islands, such as Hvar and Rovinj, where we are able to deploy our Marina and offer a day of complimentary watersports!

Will we be seeing any new itineraries unveiled for the future?

Expansion of fleet has meant enhanced itineraries and brand new destinations, such as Armacao dos Búzios in Brazil; Eden in Australia; Piran in Slovenia and even Fort William, Scotland!

As well as extending our Europe product in 2013 to offer more itineraries and new ports, this winter we are offering our first ever six star Antarctica programme onboard the Seabourn Quest, which will consist of four 14-21 night cruises which feature five days of landings in Antarctica as well ports of call in South America and Patagonia. We will have scientists, polar experts and naturalists onboard to enhance the experience for our guests.

In April 2014, the Seabourn Odyssey will offer a 16-night Jewels of India cruise which will feature a two night stay in Rangoon, Myanmar as well as iconic ports such as Cochin, Mangalore and Phuket. Also watch out for our 2015 Grand World Cruise to be announced shortly which will feature some exciting new destinations

You describe Seabourn staff as being "clairvoyant" – explain what this means for guests?

They are not literally clairvoyant, however we like to think that our staff can anticipate our guests needs before they even know what they want themselves, and are always looking for that extra touch that will surprise and please you. For instance supplying a shawl when the weather becomes cooler on deck, a neck massage or frozen fruit skewer as you relax in the sunshine. Your suite stewardess may work out what time you'll be back onboard and have run you a Pure Pampering SM lavender bubble bath, or, having been tipped off by your waiter, our chef may prepare a surprise dessert, your favourite. We call these 'Seabourn Moments'. The countless little gestures that make for a perfect six star holiday.

One of our most loved images of Seabourn is the crew carrying caviar to the beach on top of surf boards in preparation for a beach barbecue; images like that really tell a story about Seabourn, what do you consider your favourite excursion opportunity?

Our Caviar in the Surf experience is certainly something very special and unique to Seabourn, taking place in warm-water destinations such as the Caribbean and Asia. Another complimentary event is our evening classical concert at Ephesus, after the ruins close to visitors and is exclusive to Seabourn. Guests will be seated at white clothed tables and enjoy drinks and snacks served by our uniformed staff while they enjoy a classical concert in front of the famous Library of Celsius.

We've seen so much from Seabourn over the years, where next for the cruise line?

We've recently introduced "Seabourn Conversations", an entertainment concept which includes a lineup of celebrities and experts, who will lecture or perform, take part in Q&A interviews, enliven the social scene – and join the conversation with guests. There are "Culinary Conversations" which include chefs, winemakers and gastronomy experts. "Arts Conversations" by theatre, dance, film, literature or music experts, while Explorers, historians, anthropologists and geographers participate in "Culture & Destination Conversations" and more.

We are continually enhancing our cuisine onboard to feature brand new menus, including local dishes, new vegetarian options, more (pre-packed) Kosher dishes and a sustainable fish and seafood programme. We've updated the shows with a larger cast of musicians and performers, enhanced our fresh flower displays and created new penthouse spa suites on the Seabourn Quest.

We'd like to thank Lynn for taking the time to meet with us and answer our questions.

SEVEN SEAS CRUISES®

Swan Hellenic's 60-year heritage brings destinations to life

For 60 years Swan Hellenic has been providing the most exciting discovery cruises, bringing the way we view the world and bringing destinations to life. Our 60-year heritage is the company's commitment to create unique experiences, and experiences with you.

From the moment you set foot on your discovery cruise on board you can see and feel that you will be well looked after by our long-serving, experienced crew. Hellenic will take care of everything you or your loved ones will require in the company of your 24-hour-attended purser.

Should you require you will need to carry your own clothes, shoes, sun cream, binoculars, and any other personal necessities.

During leisure days ashore, should you wish to visit and immerse our coastline through day excursions and you will enjoy an inclusive water sports shore excursion programme, worth up to £100 per person, which has been meticulously planned so every aspect of your cruise is delivered to the highest possible standard.

At each day's end, relax in your specially furnished cabin where thoughtful bedding, crockery, towels, shower, glasses, and a range of complimentary L'Oréal Paris toiletries ensure a relaxed evening which leaves you refreshed and ready for another wonderful day of exploration.

Italy, Positano
